

STUDY ABROAD AND EXCHANGE PROGRAMS

URI's Office of International Education and National Student Exchange sponsors study and exchange programs abroad, provides information about overseas programs, and helps you make arrangements for foreign study. URI has exchange and affiliation agreements with universities in Asia, Australia, Europe, Latin America, and the Caribbean. Our membership in several consortia allows you to study and participate in internships at colleges and universities around the globe.

The National Student Exchange program offers you the opportunity to study at any of the 170 member colleges and universities nationwide for a semester or academic year. The University also participates in the New England–Quebec and New England–Nova Scotia exchange programs, allowing you to study at any of the 21 English- and French-speaking universities in these provinces on an exchange basis. For more information, visit us at the Office of International Education and National Student Exchange in Taft Hall or go to uri.edu/international.

International Degree Programs

URI offers majors in international business and international engineering. The International Business program requires a high degree of proficiency in the language of another country, as well as a background in that country's history, economy, politics, culture, and arts. The International Engineering program is a five-year program in which you can earn two degrees: a Bachelor of Science in engineering and a Bachelor of Arts in a foreign language.

Slovenia

Right, Mikey Brenker, Nate Walker, and Kyle Sutherland, in Ljubljana, the capital of Slovenia. The group studied in Germany as part of the International Engineering Program, but this photo was taken on a 10-day road trip in June through Eastern Europe.

Morocco

Below, on a side trip from study in Sevilla, Spain, Hilary Franz took a camel ride in the Sahara Desert.

Spain

Left, Madrid's city symbol is the backdrop for International Engineering students Hostos Monegro, a Spanish and computer engineering major, and Soanny Delgado, a French and civil engineering major.

Summer Study

Did you know that URI offers a wide variety of summer courses in Kingston, Providence, and abroad? Find out more at uri.edu/summer.

Italy

Top, Rachel Palmer, a general business administration major, in Campobasso, Italy.

England

Right, Emily Sutton, a journalism major, poses in a London phone booth.

Greece & Egypt

Chris Eardley, who majored in coastal and marine policy and management, enjoyed study abroad in Greece where he interned at the Hydrobiological Research Station of Rhodes. Pictured (far right) Chris on a side trip to the Cairo Museum in Egypt.

Italy

Above, Lisa Marie Carroll, a textiles, fashion merchandising, and design major, in Florence, Italy.

Australia

Left, Tom Martin met one of the natives in Australia.